

Tech Sextet Hands Defeat To Middlebury

Hockey Men Never Headed As Browning And Kaneb Star

BAD ICE SLOWS GAME

Paced by Co-captain Randy Browning and George Kaneb, the Tech hockey team ran over the Middlebury Panthers by a score of 5-2 last Saturday afternoon at the Middlebury rink. It was Tech's first victory of the season in the New England League.

Both teams were severely handicapped by the soft ice which slowed the play and turned the game into a game of shinny.

Browning Opens Scoring

The first period of the game was marked by neither scoring nor penalties. The first score of the game came after 1:45 of the second period when Co-captain Browning scored on an assist from Neal.

Middlebury tallied to tie the score on a goal by Johnson assisted by Bates after 5:20 Tech's other co-captain, Sage, came back to put his team in the lead with a brilliant unassisted goal at 14:20.

Browning Scores Again

Browning opened scoring in the third period with his second goal of

Institute Professors Speak On Metallurgy In Series Of Five Talks

Speaking on "Raw Materials and Production of Pig Iron", Dr. G. B. Waterhouse, of the department of Metallurgy, gave the opening lecture in the 1940 Educational Course being given by the Boston Chapter of the American Society of Metals in Room 6-126 last Friday night at 7:45 P.M.

The lectures, free to members of the society, will deal with general topics in the field of metallurgy, and will be held on Friday evenings in Room 6-120.

Other Lectures Listed

Other lectures will be: Friday, Jan. 19, "Steel Making Processes" by Dr. John Chipman, M.I.T. department of Metallurgy; Friday, January 26, "Steel Pouring" by J. A. Swift of the South Works American Steel and Wire Company; Friday, February 9, "Hot Working, Rolling, and Forging" by Mr. Karl Fellers, Metallurgy department.

The last of the series will be held Friday, February 16, and will be entitled "Inspection and Testing of Steel" by Mr. Paul D. Field of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and Dr. John T. Norton, department of Metallurgy.

Catholic Charity Dance Attracts Crowd Of 800

The eighth annual Charity Dance of the Catholic Club, held in the main hall of Walker Memorial last Friday evening from nine to one, was "a complete success" according to President Joseph J. Casey.

The affair attracted nearly 400 couples who danced to the music of Buddy Trask and his orchestra, after paying the price of admission—a bundle of serviceable clothing and fifty cents.

Book Illustrating Display Planned For January 24

Exhibit Will Be Shown In Hall Of Rogers' Building Until Feb. 14

A display of the "Techniques of Book Illustration", will open in the exhibition hall of the School of Architecture on January 24. The exhibit, which comes to the Institute through the efforts of the Friends of the Technology Library, will remain on public display until February 14.

The exhibition, recently sponsored in New York by the American Institute of Graphic Arts, is unique in that it includes only the work of illustrators now living in this country, and it shows not only the finished reproductions of book illustrations, but the original art work with most of the intermediate mechanical processes.

Display Reveals Modern Methods

Planned to stimulate the use of a greater variety of the book illustration techniques available, the display reveals as many as possible of the modern methods used by artists in

Glee Club Plays Host To Pembroke Society

The Pembroke College Glee Club were the guests of the M.I.T. Glee Club in a joint concert held last Saturday night in the Main Hall of Walker Memorial. This concert was the second presented by these clubs this year. G. Richard Carpenter conducted the Pembroke group, with Miss Sylvia Rose lending accompaniment.

After the recital the two clubs held a formal dance to the music of the Walker records. In the intermission

Saturday Radio Program To Be Broadcast Over WEEI

"The Campus of the Air", a new weekly radio program designed to express collegiate life in New England took to the air for the first time last Saturday at 5:30 on station WEEI.

The weekly program, which is scheduled to be broadcast each week from 5:30 to 6:00 P.M. was organized with the cooperation of the New England Town Hall program and is to be the first of such magnitude to be presented by a staff of college editors.

Burr Represents Tech

Contributing editors from each of the thirty participating colleges were appointed by the administration office, in collaboration with the college publicity office and the college paper of their respective colleges. John G. Burr, '40, retiring editor of The Tech, was thus appointed to represent Technology.

A Managing Board of three, consisting of Chairman William Tyng, editor-elect of the Harvard Crimson, Alfred Symonds, editor of the Tufts College Weekly, and Arnold Baum, editor-in-chief of the Northeastern News, were elected to cull and select material, and to appoint a rotating production staff of three contributing editors to manage the production of the program.

Debaters Defeat Brown University

Technology Earned First Win Of Season Last Week At Providence

With a unanimous vote in its favor, the Technology Debating Society earned its first victory of the season by defeating Brown University last Thursday afternoon in a debate at Providence.

The Institute team, composed of Stanley L. Backer, '41, and Franklin P. Seeley, '42, successfully defended college athletic scholarships against the arguments of its Brown opponents.

Many No-Decisions

Although the debating club has gained several no-decisions in many of its contests, this is the first actual win that has been scored this year.

Vannevar Bush Unable To Speak At Dorm Dinner

Kent Bartlett's Orchestra Is Secured To Furnish Dance Music

Due to a previous obligation, Dr. Vannevar Bush, former Technology vice-president, and now president of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, will not be able to speak at the Dorm Dinner Dance, to be held on Friday evening, February 16, in the Walker Memorial Building.

Kent Bartlett and his twelve-piece band have been secured to furnish the music for the affair. Although not well known about Technology, Bartlett's band has achieved considerable popularity at local colleges. His attractive vocalist, eighteen-year-old Vita Scott, will supplement his playing.

Dinner Begins at Seven

Promptly at seven, dinner is to be served. Immediately following, Henry Rapoport, chairman of the Dormitory Committee, will present a short speech of welcome and will introduce the speakers of the evening. It is expected that President Karl T. Compton will attend the affair and will address the assemblage.

Dancing will begin at ten to continue until two. As a special feature,

Hunter Lectures On Paper Making

Hand Methods Of Ancients Demonstrated In Talk Sunday At 4

Oriental and European methods of making paper by hand were demonstrated at a lecture by Dr. Dard Hunter, curator of the Dard Hunter Paper Museum at the Institute, Sunday afternoon at 4 P.M. in Room 10-250.

Dr. Hunter opened his lecture with a description of the first paper ever made. It was composed of Mulberry leaves, and made by the Japanese in 105 A.D., more than a thousand years before paper was first introduced in Europe. Objects on display at the lecture included papermaking moulds from all over the world. The evolution of paper-making fibres was illustrated with samples of paper made from straw, cotton stalks, thistle-down, potatoes, and many other materials.

Hunter Is Authority

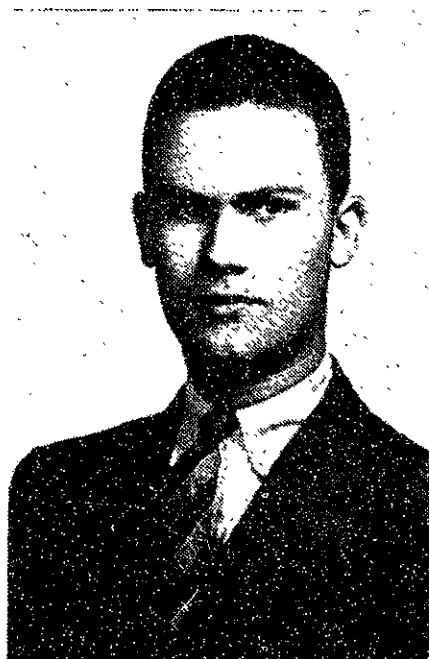

Dr. Hunter is an internationally known authority on paper-making by hand, and has studied the history of this art during many journeys to India, Japan, China, and the South Sea Islands.

Twenty Couples Attend 5:15 Club Room Dance

Another of the 5:15 Club's periodic room dances was held Saturday night in the 5:15 Club Room in Walker Memorial. Dancing was from eight to midnight to phonograph music.

About twenty couples attended the affair which was under the direction of Herbert R. Mooney, '41. Another similar dance is planned sometime after the second semester starts.

TRAFFIC JAM

An old-fashioned filibuster—with readings from the Bible and the Congressional Record—was the only detail missing from last week's Institute Committee meeting. Every other political trick in the books was used to prevent sensible discussion of the "succession" problem.

And the result of this attempt to tie up straight-forward procedure? The instigators of the confusion gained nothing. The "succession" proposal, defeated once, is slated for reconsideration at the next meeting—and in its original form. The Committee members, after a lengthy and stormy session, are right back where they started.

Considerable harm, however, was done. Valuable time, needed for the discussion of other important business, was wasted. Still more time will be lost at the next meeting if more motions, amendments, points of order, and questions are used in further attempts to block consideration of the subject.

But more important than the time wasted is the harm done to the reputation of democratic government. Continuation of the confusion evident last week may cause both Faculty and students to lose faith in the Committee. Such a condition could conceivably be the first step in the removal of the right of student self-government, an occurrence unfortunately common in modern colleges.

We're proud of our system of government. We'd like to see it continue, unhampered by Faculty control. That is possible only if the members of the Institute Committee act like the intelligent men they are supposed to be.

AFTER THE GAME

The box score was not the only tangible result of last Friday's basketball game with Brown University. In retrospect, the fact that Technology's fighting team was defeated by the Providence squad seems somewhat dimmed in the strong light of several other points brought out during and after the game.

The word "squad" is used advisedly. For it was just that that beat the men wearing the T's out there on the floor. That the Institute team tired as the last-quarter grind rolled around was wholly evident. Leading at the half going into the third period, Tech's representatives, with adequate reserve strength could well have maintained the pace and carried off a much-earned victory.

Basketball games are not easily won with five or six or even seven men any more than football games are won by eleven or twelve men. The Institute team has been playing on guts during the last periods of all their games this year. It was a shame that last Friday night, fight had to bow to numbers.

Good sportsmanship on the part of the home rooters was strikingly in evidence during the game. Tech's supporters can pride themselves on their sensible, yet enthusiastic, conduct during the contest. Booing while the opponents were shooting fouls and on the referee's decisions was happily lacking.

Nor did the display of sportsmanship go unnoticed. Coach McCarthy after the game praised the Tech fans for their conduct, declaring it was a definite aid to the team. In such ways, evidently, spectators can help the team of their favor.

Now is the time, moreover, when we can really show spirit for the team. The squad may not be able to supply a fresh team every quarter of the game. But one fact is certain: The team that is out there playing will be playing its heart out to win. For that reason alone, if not to show sportsmanship or any other cause, don't quit the team that hasn't quit itself.

SURVEY

Great has been the hue and cry over the athletic system at Technology. The student body has constantly commented upon "poor equipment," "poor coaching," or "no interest". But no one seemed interested enough to survey the situation accurately, to present numbers, to tabulate results.

This month the Tech Engineering News presents one of the most comprehensive articles on Institute athletics seen here in recent years. It has stepped outside its field to deal with this subject, but the results stand for a job well done.

Now we have the details. We know how much money is being spent, and for what. We can see at a glance which classes take most advantage of the facilities offered them.

The Tech Engineering News is to be highly commended for this survey. Now those with gripes will have to face facts. The validity of disgruntled comments can be tested by statistics in black and white.

But after all, what is most important, a firm foundation for improvement has been built. It is up to those activities in charge of athletics to take advantage of the knowledge offered them and to readjust sports at Technology.

IN THE MAIL

Editor, The Tech,

Dear Sir:

In regard to your editorial, "Consider the Man", in the January 5 issue, I will skip over the dubious advisability of entering into the complex field of political criticism. Although this was no doubt begun with noble intent, I feel that it could be put in more capable hands.

Aside from a flashy, but rather muddled style, the author of this editorial makes several serious statements for which he offers no proof. He claims that the president does not control the activity of labor leaders. He says that the president is a man of great competence, but that he should restrain himself in the paths of righteousness, because there may be no one to succeed him. He also doubts the sincerity and the foresight of the president. A closer examination of the writer's logic shows up a very narrow-minded line of thought.

Before The Tech prints any more articles on such controversial subjects, why don't they let a man from the opposite viewpoint temper their opinion by a few well put criticisms, before the paper goes to press.

Yours truly,

Steven Heller, '43

Cream for the Creamer

The Lounger was amazed to find this week that feminine adulation is not restricted to Big Ten football players; on the contrary, local bits of it are centered right here at the Institute. The occasion for this tribute has been the basketball feats of Thomas Fishback Creamer, '40, captain of the M.I.T. basketball team.

Tom was, one morning last week, deeply stirred by a neat envelope well scented. Somewhat puzzled by a Cambridge postmark instead of that of a western town nearby, he opened it blithely, nevertheless, and found to his astonishment and elation that it was from a Radcliffe miss. In effect it said, "I watch all your games. Everytime you make a shot I put all my oomph behind it and hope that it rolls into the hoop. All Radcliffe is eagerly following your success. Now Tommy, dear, I would like a picture of you. Not one of those action ones like they have in the newspaper, but a nice one of you in your Sunday suit with the Institute in the background. Yours, etc. . . . Cakemaker." Due to the rain the past few days no one has been taking pictures; however the next sunny day if T.F.C. wears his Sunday suit and a nice smile it will again prove that noblesse oblige.

Crimson??

At The Tech's election banquet, Professor Magoun, in a harangue against our illustrious nom de plume, gave listeners cause to crack a smile. He said our name is inadequate. Friends often ask him "The Tech what?"

Supposing, he continued, other colleges should name their papers as we have done. California Institute of Technology would call theirs The Cal, and Wellesley's would be the Well. Moreover, John Harvard, our neighbor up the river, would have called their rag, The John.

Dorm Dance

an early-morning breakfast will be served at 1:30.

"1930-1940" Is Theme of Affair

Theme of the affair is to be "1930-1940", in keeping with the fact that this is the tenth annual formal Dinner Dance. The theme will be supplemented by lighting effects, which will form the basis of the decorative scheme.

The entire facilities of Walker Memorial will be available to those who attend. The bowling alleys, the 5:15 Club Room, and the various faculty and activity rooms are to be open.

Dance Is Open Affair

Although intended primarily for Dormitory and Graduate House residents, the affair, marking the high point on the dormitory social calendar, is open to their friends.

Open House will be in effect throughout the Undergraduate and Senior Houses on the evening of the dance. On the Sunday afternoon following this dance, January 18, a tea will be held in the Burton Room in the Undergraduate Dormitories.

Options Still on Sale

Options for the dance may be obtained from the hall chairmen in the various Undergraduate Halls and from L. Hurley Bloom, '40, in the Senior House. They will be priced at $2.00. Only full tickets, at $4.00, are to be sold after examinations.

College News

and orchestras will be "given the air", timely collegiate news items are to be high-lighted through a permanent feature of the program, the Editor's Desk, and athletics will be given an important position.

The first program broadcast over WEEI last Saturday included a choral presentation by Boston University Medical students, a talk by Dr. Leonard Carmichael, president of Tufts College, an interview with Boston College football players, and the pick of latest collegiate news and human interest stories.

Reviews and Previews

SYMPHONY HALL — Next Sunday afternoon, Alec Templeton will perform on the piano, beginning at 3:30 P.M.

COLONIAL—Helen Hayes and Philip Merivale will open on Monday next, in a new play by Hecht and MacArthur, Ladies and Gentlemen. The production is being presented by Gilbert Miller and will show in Boston for two weeks.

SHUBERT—Two For The Show, a new musical comedy, begins a week's performance on Tuesday, January 23. Three matinees will be held during the run, on Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday.

WILBUR — Elmer Rice's new play, Two On An Island, opened here last night, and will continue for a week. The presentation has been staged by the author, with settings by Jo Mielzner. The play covers eleven scenes and is being presented by the Playwright's Company. Betty Field, of stage and screen fame, heads a cast of fifty.

METROPOLITAN — Ninotchka, Garbo's latest, is a highly enjoyable comedy. Supported by such experienced artists as Melvyn Douglas and Ina Claire, Garbo turns in a fine job in a role which is new for her. Featuring Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore. The Secret of Dr. Kildare, another in the series of "Dr. Kildare" pictures, is the accompanying film. Beginning Thursday, a new show comes to this theater. Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray co-star in Remember the Night. Second film on the program is Barricade with Alice Faye and Warner Baxter.

LOEW'S STATE & ORPHEUM — Gone With The Wind continues for at least another week at these two theaters. At the State only reserved seats may be obtained. There are two shows daily; at 1:30 P.M. and at 8:00 P.M. Continuous performances are being shown at the Orpheum from 9:30 A.M. until 2:45 P.M. For these shows no reservations are necessary. At night, however, all seats are reserved.

KEITH MEMORIAL—Charles Laughton continues in his role of the "horrible" Hunchback of Notre Dame. The story has been adapted from Victor Hugo's novel and with a few exceptions, including the typical movie happy ending, follows the original fairly faithfully. Maureen O'Hara portrays the lovely gypsy girl of the novel.

PARAMOUNT & FENWAY — Sonja Henie's latest picture, Everything Happens At Night, continues at these two theaters. Ray Milland and Robert Cummings lead her supporting cast. The second feature is Emergency Squad, with Louise Campbell and William Henry.

Dave Howard Stars In Swimming Match Against B. U. Varsity

M. I. T. Wins 46-29 In Second Tilt Of Season

Victory Is Balanced By Loss Of Match To Connecticut

Climaxed by the outstanding swimming of Dave Howard, '41, the meet with Boston University resulted in a 46-29 victory for the Beaver Mermen at the University Club pool last Saturday. Tying Lukinchook, B.U.'s "Iron Man", in the 440 yd. free-style, Howard gave the crowd a thrill as he closed up a 30 yard deficit to finish in a dead heat.

In the 220 yd. freestyle Lukinchook set a new B. U. record with a time of 2:19 5/10 by clipping 6/10 second off the old record. The meet showed definite improvement in the M.I.T. team was the opinion of Jack C. Heist, manager. "This is a strong indication of success in future meets on this year's schedule," he added.

How to Connecticut

Not so successful was the meet with the University of Connecticut in which the Engineers lost 54-21. This meet held Friday at 8 P.M. in the University Club pool went poorly for M.I.T. from the first event, in which Connecticut won the 330 yd. relay.

Individual winners in the B.U. meet were as follows: 300 yd. medley relay—won by M.I.T. (McEvoy, Loveland, and Wheeler) time 3 min. 20 5/10 sec.; 220 yd. freestyle—Lukinchook (BU) second, time 2 min. 19 5/10 sec.; 50 yd. freestyle—Denhard (MIT) second, time 25 4/10 sec.; 100 yd. freestyle—Lukinchook (BU) second, time 2 min. 59 sec.; 100 yd. backstroke—White (BU) second, time 2 min. 40 sec.; 200 yd. breaststroke—McLeary (MIT) second, time 3 min. 30 1/10 sec.; 440 yd. freestyle—Howard (MIT) second, time 4 min. 55 5/10 sec.; 400 yd. relay—won by M.I.T. (Wheeler, Denhard, McLeary, and Schuler) time 3 min. 50 5/10 sec.

In the Connecticut meet the winners were: 200 yd. medley relay—won by Conn. (Chamberlain, Hyman, and Shapiro) time 2 min. 28 4/10 sec.; 220 yd. freestyle—Ross (Conn.) second, time 2 min. 38 8/10 sec.; 50 yd. freestyle—Schuler (MIT) second, time 25 2/10 sec.; 100 yd. freestyle—Sexton (Conn.) second, time 2 min. 59 9/10 sec.; 100 yd. backstroke—Chamberlain (Conn.) second, time 2 min. 54 5/10 sec.; 200 yd. breaststroke—Brundage (Conn.) second, time 3 min. 35 4/10 sec.; 440 yd. freestyle—Huyler (Conn.) second, time 4 min. 55 sec.; 400 yd. relay—won by Conn. (Ross, Shapiro, Burr, and Sarrett) time 3 min. 50 1/10 sec.

Relay Team Wins V.F.W. 2nd Place

Technology's one mile relay team placed second behind Williams in the V.F.W. Meet at Boston Garden Saturday night after the freshmen had defeated Roxbury Latin on the Tech boards earlier in the day.

Captain Vernon Kyllonen pulled ahead of Williams at the end of the first leg to give Charlie Smith a slight lead which he held through the second quarter. A mixup in the exchange of batons put Williams in front for the rest of the race despite the efforts of Lew Jester and Gene Brady.

Other Events

Other varsity men competing in the meet were Ed Edmunds in the dash, Jack Schultz in the high hurdles, Ernie Little in the 600, Olaf Rustad and Les Corsa in the 1000, John Nagle and Charles Coles in the high jump, and Walt Eberhard and Ralph Horst in the pole vault.

The freshmen opened the season with a 39 2/3 to 32 1/3 win over Roxbury Latin although Morse and Parker of the visitors accounted for five of the eight first places. Stewart in the 50 yard dash, Coles in the high jump, and McJunkin in the shot put turned in firsts for Tech.

Senior House C Quintet Leads Dorm Tournament

The standings to date of the six undergraduate houses and three Senior house teams entered in the Dormitory Basketball Tournament are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Senior A	4	1
Goodale	3	1
Bemis	3	2
Senior C	3	3
Munroe	3	4
Hayden	2	4
Walcott	1	5
Wood	1	6

The tournament is scheduled to be finished by Feb. 13th.

Tech Grapplers Draw Two Bouts 16-16 And 14-14

Varsity Wrestlers Come-back In Tie With Amherst; Frosh Tie Milton

Bouncing back from behind lopsided halfway scores, Technology's wrestlers grunted into draws in two bouts last Saturday. The Varsity evened off with Amherst 16-16, at that college; the frosh, at home, halted Milton Academy at 14 all.

In the varsity match Ed Fettes barely missed having a fall chalked up to his credit in his first win this season. The referee's signal that his opponent was pinned did not stand, however, because the timekeeper's shout a few seconds earlier had been obscured by crowd noise.

Stone in Last Bout

Captain Bill Stone, wrestling his last match for the Institute, flashed his usual fancy style to win by a fall. Stone will be forced to discontinue athletic competition next term when he enters Course 10 practice school.

Probably the hardest fought match of the evening was that in which Dick Powers garnered a single decisive point in the last forty seconds of his second overtime period to break a deadlock with Harting of Amherst. Schaefer and Sullivan dropped hotly contested bouts.

Beano Knots Count

Although the Institute men went into the last event, the unlimited class, with a three point margin to its credit, it was soon apparent that Beano Goodman was struggling against a really tough competitor in Whitten, of Amherst. By holding a neck stiffening high bridge for the last minute of the bout, Beano was able to prevent a fall being scored against him, which would have given Amherst five points and the match. The decision, carrying a counter of three points, did go to the home team to knot the final score at 16 all.

The summaries:

121-pound class—Hadley (A) threw Sullivan (MIT), with an arm bar and chancery. Time—6m. 53s.
128-pound class—Stone (MIT) threw Leary. Time—2m. 50s.
136-pound class—Handyside (A) defeated Carnrick.
145-pound class—Minnick (A) threw Sheffer. Time—3m. 55s.
155-pound class—Fettes (MIT) defeated Moore.
165-pound class—Powers (MIT) defeated Hastings, overtime.
175-pound class—Carlton (MIT) defeated Buckman.
Unlimited—Whitten (A) defeated Goodman.

Brown Tops Tired Tech

Lead At Half Is Lost As Bruins Come Thru With Victory

After dropping a close hard fought tilt to the Brown floor squad 47-35, Technology's cage five will meet a fast moving Tufts team at their Medford gym Wednesday evening, January 17. Tufts claims the distinction of pulling the upset act on Brown the game previous to the Tech-Brown game.

The Brown cagers showed a marked superiority from the foul line in the game which was the first loss for the Engineers in four games. Tech led the visitors 24 to 19 at the half. Brown players stated after the game that the Institute squad was the toughest that they had faced this season.

Tech Starts Strong

Tech early pulled into the lead and the first two periods were filled with Brown protests of referee's decisions.

Howie Samuels, slippery left forward, led the field in individual point scoring with a grand total of 14 points, 12 of which were through field goals. Wilson, lanky center, and Person, left guard of the visitors, tied for second place scoring honors by chalking up 11 points apiece.

Ski Team Loses Meet To W. P. I.

The Tech Skiing team lost a close dual meet with Worcester Polytechnic Institute last Saturday at Mt. Wachusett by the score of 93.2% to 90.3%.

Despite the fact that the day was cloudy and some of the runs were held in the dark the hill record was broken twice.

The first record smashing traverse was made by Falco of M.I.T. who did the course in 56.5. The hill record was broken for the second time in the day by Dunklee who established a 56.2.

M.I.T. Marksmen Lose Yale Match

With both teams breaking records, the M.I.T. rifle team was shaded last Saturday at New Haven, Conn., by the Yale sharpshooters by a close score of 1389 to 1355.

For the fourth time this season, Joe Myers, '41, was high man for Tech; his high score of 276 included a 90 in the off-hand event.

Record in Off-Hand

Other Tech men among the highest five of the match were Herman Meyer, '40, with 275 points; Val DeOllouqui, '40, with 273; Dong Crawford, '40, with 266, and Jean Lewis, '40, with 265. The average for M.I.T. in the off-hand position was 87, one of the highest ever made.

Yale set a new record for itself when it shot a score of 1389. McBain of Yale was the highest man, scoring 286 points.

The Freshmen Rifle team fires against Malden High next Thursday night in the Tech rifle range.

SPORTS THIS WEEK

This week finds Technology's athletes entered in only three major events. The hockey team will compete twice, meeting Northeastern tonight and New Hampshire Friday night. The basketball team will attempt to regain its laurels in its game with Tufts Wednesday night.

The Tech pucksters will go into action tonight in the Boston Arena with renewed confidence after defeating Middlebury last Saturday 5-2. The game should be a hotly contested one as the M.I.T. skaters have been on the upward trend and Northeastern boasts of a good team.

The Basketball quintet will have one of its toughest games of the year this Wednesday evening when it meets Tufts' team at that college. The cardinal and gray will be in a vengeful mood after the lone defeat at the hands of Brown who has previously lost only to Tufts.

Tech Elections

Magoun Speaks

The members of The Tech and their guests, gathered fifty strong heard Prof. F. Alexander Magoun, the guest speaker of the evening, hold out hopes of fame for the managerial boards of The Tech in his after dinner talk on "Publications Men and Their Status After Graduation".

In his presentation, the Professor made use of the figures he derived from an extensive study of Technology's alumni. Of approximately 2,000 alumni who achieved fame and success, as judged by the fact that they were listed in one or more of the publications: Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Engineering, or American Men of Science, said Professor Magoun, 18% held managerial positions on Institute publications while undergraduates. And furthermore he added 67% of that 18% had positions on The Tech.

Kather Gives Review

Following the dinner, Bill Kather, the toastmaster, in a review of the last year, outlined the trials, tribulations, and successes of The Tech. He told of the praises received on the editorials and editorial policy of Volume LIX, the excitement caused by the dormitory robberies of last year, and the outstanding athletic success of The Tech over its brother publications.

The out-going board, which consists of Kather, John G. Burr, Phelps A. Walker, and J. William Blattenberger, were presented, and each gave a short farewell talk.

The other guests present at the dinner besides Professor Magoun were Delbert L. Rhind, bursar of the Institute, James J. Rowlands, Director of News Service, and Stanley G. H. Fitch, member of the Advisory Council on Publications.

Dato Is Journalist

Harold E. Dato, new general manager, graduated from the Chicago Latin School before coming to the Institute. He is the secretary member of Gridiron, the Honorary Publications Society, and a member of the Dormitory Committee. His experience in journalism covers the present editorship of the Dorm Rumor, the dormitory paper, and the position of Editor-in-Chief of the Benchmark, the yearbook of Camp Technology, the Institute's summer surveying camp.

Book Illustration

creating original art work and its processes of conversion into the finished book illustration.

The material of the exhibit is divided into three distinct classes. The first classification will include plates executed entirely by the artist. Typical examples of this group are etchings, lithographs, wood engravings, woodcuts, steel engravings, aquatints, and a stencil or pochoir process.

Color Separation Indicated

Plates which represent the combined work of artist and plate maker make up the second group. It is in these plates that the artist indicates color separation. The third classification is composed of illustrations printed from plates made entirely by the plate maker. This class represents the finished product and includes such processes as line and half-tone relief, and many combination plates such as Ben Day tints, intaglio-gravure, planographic-offset, lithography, and photo gelatin.

Represented in this illustration are such prominent illustrators as John Sloan, Peggy Bacon, Edward A. Wilson, Rudolph Ruzicka, W. A. Dwiggins, Richard Floethe, Reginald Marsh, Vladimir Bobri, Ingri and Edgar Parin d'Aulaire, Clare Turlay Newberry, Rockwell Kent, George Salter, Lynd Ward, Grant Wood, Valenti Angelo, and Hans Alexander Mueller.

Herbert Bayer, eminent designer, artist, and typographer, supervised the arrangement of the exhibit.

the afternoon which came at 2:30 assisted by Neal. After 5:10 Browning collaborated with Kaneb who did the actual scoring to produce Tech's fourth marker.

A minute and a half later Middlebury made its second and final tally when Ross scored unassisted. Tech's final scoring was done by Kaneb on a pass from Neal after 10:21.

Only Five Penalties

The game was cleanly played, being marked by only five penalties. Neither side was without at least five players on the ice at all times.
